

COWBOY FOREVER

A film by Jean-Baptiste Erreca

Official Selection GLBT Film Festival Paris
Official Selection San Francisco, Seattle IFF,
Montreal, Bruxelles...

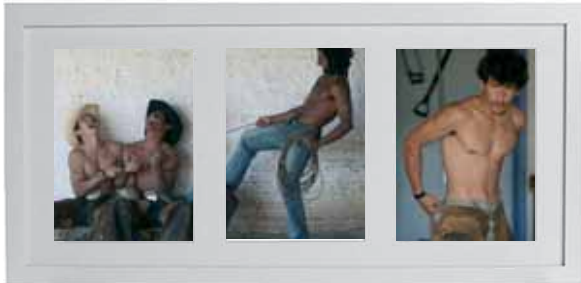

"Is a little gem, in that the cinema-verite is so accomplished, I really couldn't tell if it was a documentary or not...Until the fantastic dream sequence!" Life with movies and maxxix

"Admiring other men for more than their rodeo skills. It's not exactly a South American Broke Back Mountain, because this story takes it's own twists and turns. Beautiful, definitely worth seeing." Film Queen Reviews

Jean-Baptiste Erreca traveled to Bonito, a remote village nestled in the vast Mato Grosso plains. Guided by a young 19 year-old ranchero, this film tells the story of the traditional and conservative life of latino cowboys.

With Cowboy Forever, we travel with exotism through breathtaking landscapes. Emotions are stirred and fantasies assumed.

In the Pantanal area of Western Brazil, two (handsome) cowboys, Jones and Govinda experience a true love story in the open air. This reminds you of Brokeback Mountain? Jean-Baptiste Erreca, the director of Cowboy Forever proudly assumes this similarity. He pays a tribute directly to Ang Lee (the director of) in this documentary film.

Running Time: 26 minutes
Genre: Documentary/Fiction

Cast : Govinda Machado de Figueiredo, Jones Carlos Fialho Araújo
Ronald Rosa.

Available worldwide except: US, France, Germany.